Tyson Fury vs. Deontay Wilder II was a professional boxing match held on February 22,2020.It was contested for the Lineal/WBC heavyweight world title. The fight was a rematch after the controversial split decision draw between Wilder and Fury on December 1,2018.Most boxing journalists thought that Fury won the first fight.The WBC announced in February 2019 that there would not be an immediate rematch as Fury signed a contract with ESPN and Top Rank that meant the negotiations would be more difficult as the rematch would be a co-promotion.The bout was televisedfrom the MGM Garden Arena in Las Vegas as part of Premier Boxing Champions (PBC) on FOX pay per view.The fight could also be streamed on the ESPN + App.Tyson Fury was also promoted by Frank Warren of Queensberry Promotions.

Fury won the Lineal/WBO/IBF/WBA heavyweight world championship by defeating Wladimir Klitschko in 2015.He was inactive from boxing in 2016 and 2017 and then returned to the ring in 2018.As the Fury-Wilder rematch was delayed,Fury and Wilder both scheduled fights for the interim.On May 18,2019,Wilder faced Dominic Breazeale and recorded a first-round knockout.A few weeks later on June 15,2019,Fury took on Tom Schwarz and scored a second round technical knockout.Fury followed this stoppage win with a 12-round unanimous decision victory over Otto Wallin on September 14,2019.Wilder then had a rematch with Luis Ortiz on November 23,2019 and won by seventh round knockout.

Both Fury and Wilder called each other out after their fights and the rematch was officially announced on December 27,2019 for February 22,2020 at the MGM Grand Garden Arena in Las Vegas,Nevada.

Tyson Fury didn’t get the second-round knockout he promised against Deontay Wilder but he still battered his injured opponent throughout on the way to a seventh round technical knockout in their highly anticipated rematch in Las Vegas.Fury claimed the World Boxing Council heavyweight world title by defeating Wilder.Kenny Bayless stopped the fight at 1:39 in the seventh at the request of Wilder’s corner,leaving no doubt after the first meeting between the fighters two years ago ended in a split draw.“The king has returned to the top of the throne,”said Fury,nicknamed the Gypsy King,before Fury urged the crowd at the MGM Grand Garden Arena to join him in a rendition of Don McLean’s “American Pie”.Fury is of Irish Traveller ancestry and boxes out of the U.K.Fury trained for his bout with Wilder at Top Rank's training center on 748 Pilot Road in Las Vegas.His brothers were part of his training camp and so was former professional boxer Andy Lee. Fury (30-0-1,21 knockouts) recorded two knockdowns,including in round three,when helanded a right to the head that had Wilder (42-1-1,41 KO's) bleeding profusely from his ear.That blow left Wilder wobbly through the remainder of the fight.Fury weighed in at 273 pounds,19 pounds heavier than when the two first fought.Fury capitalized again with a fifth-round knockdown in front of a star-studded crowd.Wilder came in at 231 pounds,well above the 213 he carried in the initial fight in which he knocked Fury down twice,including in the 12th and final round.Fury-Wilder II became the highest grossing in terms of revenue generated by ticket sales in the state of Nevada.

In a stunning turn of events,Wilder’s power was nowhere to be found,particularly after the damage to his ear,perhaps from a ruptured eardrum.Wilder’s balance and footwork were never the same after that blow from Fury,rendering Wilder’s normally devastating right hand useless."The best man won tonight,"Wilder said,'I make no excuses tonight.This is what big time boxing is all about.The best must fight the best."Referee Kenny Bayless stopped the fight at the request of Wilder's corner after Fury drove the former WBC champ into the ropes and battered him repeatedly in a dominant performance.

Wilder did not attend the post-fight press conference as he went to the hospital following his fight with Fury.Wilder's trainer Jay Deas and manager Shelly Finkel were present for interviews with the press following the defeat."Mark (Breland) threw in the towel.I don't think he should have.Deontay is the kind of guy that doesn't want to quit,"said Deas."I haven't talked to Mark about it but we will talk about it.Deontay is doing well.He had a small cut in his ear.It probably messed up his equilibrium.He'll be back."

Fury landed 82 of 267 punches (30.7%),compared to only 34 of 141 for Wilder (24.1%),according to CompuBox punch statistics.Fury connected on 58 power shots in less than seven full rounds after landing only 38 in the entire first fight.Tyson Fury was the winner of all but one round on the three judges scorecards at the time of the stoppage.

According to Sports Illustrated's Chris Mannix,streaming purchases from the ESPN+ and FOX Sports App were major drivers for the total buy rate of the fight.Wilder vs. Fury 2 had a $16.9 million live gate,making it the 7th largest boxing gate in the history of Nevada.The February 22nd event was priced at $79.99,$5 cheaper than the pay-per-view cost for their December 2018 matchup.Fury's seventh-round tko over Wilder generated between $64 million and $68 million in pay per view revenue.The bout was covered by Matthew E. O'Neil.O'Neil is the host of the Everipedia Boxing Show,which is on Spotify.Spotify is on the New York Stock Exchange.O'Neil was on a February 2020 episode of The Grueling Truth in which he discussed the Wilder-Fury fight.The episode is available on Amazon Music.He was also on episode 26 of the AkHi TV podcast "Split Decisions"; he was on the show at the 37th minute.

O'Neil stated,"Fury was trained by Javan "Sugar Hill" Steward of the the Kronk Gym while Wilder was trained by Jay Deas.The bout was stopped at the correct time as Wilder was trapped along the ropes taking huge right hands from a 273 pound man.It is up to the individual fighter or his corner to catch and report illegal tactics.If you feel that someone is cheating,it is up to the fighter or fighter's corner to express that to the referee or state regulators."

O'Neil asked Dewey Cooper of the Mayweather Boxing Club his opinion of the Fury-Wilder II boxing match and Cooper responded,"I like Fury,but the glove was compromised.I felt like he would have beaten Wilder on that night regardless,however he still felt the need to adjust his glove improperly."

Tyson Fury vs. Deontay Wilder III was a professional boxing rematch between WBC and The Ring heavyweight champion Tyson Fury and former WBC heavyweight champion Deontay Wilder on October 9,2021 at T-Mobile Arena in Las Vegas,Nevada.The original match was postponed was scheduled for July 24th and postponed on July 9,2021 due to Tyson Fury testing positive for Coronavirus (COVID-19).Fury was managed by MTK Global until the company ceased business operations in April 2022.The match was promoted by Premier Boxing Champions,Top Rank,and Frank Warren's Queensberry Promotions.

Fury KO'd Wilder in the eleventh round of their third match.They battered each other for 10-plus rounds,with multiple trips to the canvas and several other punches that would have knocked out lesser boxers.Wilder scored two knockdowns in the fourth round,while Fury sent Wilder to the canvas in the 3rd,10th,and 11th rounds.The referee waved off the fight almost as soon as Wilder went down.Fury was trained by Javan Steward of the Kronk Gym.Wilder was trained by Malik Scott.

Kronk Gym is a boxing gym in Detroit,Michigan.The original gym closed in 2006.Its founder was Emanuel Steward,who was the trainer for Lennox Lewis when he beat Mike Tyson.The original Kronk Gym was destroyed in a fire on October 7,2017.Some of the boxers involved with the gym were Thomas Hearns,Hilmer Kenty and Rickey Womack.James Bashir Ali was a trainer for Kronk Gym for seventeen year.A new gym was opened in 2015 with some of the same staff of the old Kronk Gym.

The building where Kronk Gym was housed was built in 1921.Kronk Gym was located on 5555 McGraw Street in Detroit.It was on the west side of the city.The Kronk Community Building was a recreation center named for former Detroit City Councilman John Kronk who served Detroit from approximately 1919 through 1940.

The center rose to prominence in the early 1970's after Emanuel Steward took on a part-time job as the head coach of the boxing program.Members of the Kronk boxing team won many Detroit Golden Gloves championships throughout the seventies.

The gym was run out of the basement of the Kronk Recreation Center.Prior to its closing in 2006,it was the oldest recreation center of the city of Detroit.

In 1980,Hilmer Kenty became Kronk's first world champion,and Thomas Hearns followed him as world champion later in the same year.In 1983,Kronk fighter Milton McCrory won the World Boxing Council world welterweight title.Another Kronk champion was Jimmy Paul,who beat Harry Arroyo for the International Boxing Federation world lightweight title.Duane Thomas was WBC super welterweight champion in 1987.He was a Kronk fighter.

Steward stepped in with an offer to buy the center rather than see it close eventually reaching an agreement with the city to pay the operating costs out of his own pocket.The cost to reopen the gym was estimated to be between $500,000 to $1 million dollars annually.In September 2006,criminals broke in into the center and stole much of the copper pipes that helped provide water supply to the center.On November 28,2006,the recreation department would close and the Kronk Gym was closed due to the prohibitive cost of repairs to the plumbing and building infrastructure.Final efforts to re-open the gym failed in 2012 after the death of Emanuel Steward.

Steward's sister,Diane Steward-Jones,removed everything related to Steward from the gym just a day after his death to prevent thefts of valuable memorabilia and “safeguard the legacy" of Steward and of the gym.What was left of the gym burned to the ground on October 7,2017.

There is a website run by Marie Steward,a relative of Emanuel Steward.It is called kronksports.com.On the website you can purchase Kronk Gym athletic apparel.According to the website,there is a Kronk affiliated gym located in a church on 9520 Mettetal Ave in Detroit,Michigan.Thomas Hearns and Milton McCrory are affiliated with the new gym.
